All over the country people are uniting to show their support for our country and for those affected by the terrible tragedy of the events earlier this week. On Friday, area school children held prayer vigils and signed books of condolence to be sent to the families of the victims in New York.

All across the nation on Friday, people sang "God Bless America" in unison at 11 a.m. At noon, many spent their lunch hours in remembrance services, and church bells rang out in a symbol of unity. All Americans have been asked to display flags at their homes, businesses, or on their cars.

Locally, teachers at Waveland Elementary School displayed flags proudly painted on their cheeks. At Bay Catholic, children and staff wore red, white and blue rib-Memorial services were held Saturday at the First Korean Baptist Church in Metairie for murder victims Hwan Suk Kim and Joon H. Kim.

Hwan Suk Kim, 54, and her son, Joon H. Kim, 36, were found shot to death on Aug. 20 at their Waveland business, Kim's Oriental Health Spa.

Their bodies were found by officers of the Waveland Police Department after their landlord became worried because he had been unable to reach them, and reported them missing.

At the time, officials said it was unclear how long the pair had been dead, but obituary notices for the Kims indicate they died on Aug. 14.

Builder appeals license suspension

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

Waveland developer Julie Rosson said Friday she plans to appeal the state Board of Contractors' decision to temporarily suspend her builder's license.

That decision came on Wednesday, when the board met at Jackson and heard comments from dentist Mark McFarland, D.D.S., for whom Rosson built a $377,000-home at Diamondhead; and New Orleans-residents William and Joan Vollenweider, for whom Rosson built a house in the upscale Timber Ridge subdivision at Pass Christian.

Norman Brooks, executive secretary for the board, confirmed Thursday that the board suspended Rosson's license until Jan. 15, 2002. That means she will be unable to begin any new projects in the interim, although she will be allowed to continue working on projects that had already begun.

Rosson owns Good Earth Builders Inc., Sundance Development Inc. and Seaside Interiors, all at 1250 Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis.

She is the developer behind two major real estate projects in Waveland: the 26-lot Acadian Bay, which is mostly complete; and the 49 acre, $15 million Sundance development at Sears Ave.

She is a four-time recipient of the Mississippi Home Builders Association's "Best in Mississippi" award, winning of those awards for homes she built in the Acadian Bay development.

Both McFarland and the Vollenweiders have active lawsuits pending against Rosson in their respective cases. McFarland's suit, filed in July 1999, claims that the value of his home is severely diminished because Rosson allegedly used "substandard" materials and building practices when erecting it.

The Vollenweider suit comes to trial in Harrison County in November; McFarland's, in December in Hancock County.

McFarland's action also names Southern Living Magazine and its parent-company, Time-Warner Publishing Inc.

"I got her name from Southern Living," McFarland said Friday. "She was part of the 1997 Southern Living Custom Builders program."

Hancock Circuit Court records indicate Rosson has also countersued McFarland, claiming "defamation of character," although she declined further comment Friday, since the cases are still in litigation.

City attorney Ronnie Artigues said Friday that the city would have to review the state board of contractor's ruling before making any decision about Rosson's continued building in Waveland.

Dead horse problem stirs stiff debate

BY ED LEPOMA

The old adage, "Beating a dead horse" took on a whole new meaning this week.

Mayor Billy McDonald and the Pass Christian Board of Aldermen Wednesday night debated whether to assist a Scenic Drive property owner whose horse was put down in the back yard by a veterinarian on Monday.

The horse is owned by Tony and Diane Brugger, who operate the Inn at the Pass Bed and Breakfast at 125 E. Scenic Drive.

McDonald said Brugger called his office requesting assistance, saying he did not have the equipment to lift the dead horse or a place to bury it. The alternative would be to bury the horse at the rear of his own property.

McDonald told aldermen he asked city attorney Malcolm Jones to turn to the state Attorney General to get an opinion on whether city equipment and manpower could be used to dispose of the dead horse.

Jones said he was told the city could handle the matter and charge the owner "a reasonable sum" for the pickup and burial. He suggested city crews pick up the horse, take it to the area of the city rifle range on Esby Avenue and bury it somewhere on the west side of the facility. The range sits over what was once a city landfill.

Jones said the city would have to declare the dead horse was creating a public health problem and the Board would have to declare a state of emergency in order to act.

Ward 4 Alderman Don Moore wondered out loud, "Why are we getting into the horse burial business?"

He said he didn't want to set a precedent by disposing of the horse because others might ask for similar assistance in the future and the city would be hard pressed to refuse them.

Ward 3 Alderman Michael Antoine didn't want the horse buried in the landfill. "I have a real problem putting anything else there," said Antoine.

Jones and the mayor said they shared their feelings, but something had to be done.

"That horse is getting pretty ripe," said Jones. "We don't have a whole bunch of time."

Moore joined in the motion to assist with the burial.

"I guess we have to do it," he said.

The vote was 4-1 with Antoine against.

On Thursday morning, however, Brugger called the mayor and said he would personally take care of the disposal and burial.

He said the horse belonged to his wife's father and had been a part of the family for 28 years.

"I don't want him in a landfill," he said.

Beach projects causing headaches

BY ED LEPOMA
Staff Writer

Beach improvement projects are giving the Hancock County Board of Supervisors some major headaches.

The problem is that some beachfront property owners don't see the projects as improvements.

The latest melee broke out Wednesday when supervisors met in a recessed session.

Janet Bellegante was on the agenda to discuss a safety guardrail being installed on the beachside of the roadway where it takes a steep incline just past Washington Street.

Bellegante said the supporting steel posts were protruding a foot to a foot-and-a-half into the roadway.

She said she saw a woman jogging and pushing a baby stroller in front of her, and the barrier posts forced her to jog in the roadway.

"Besides that, it's ugly," she said.

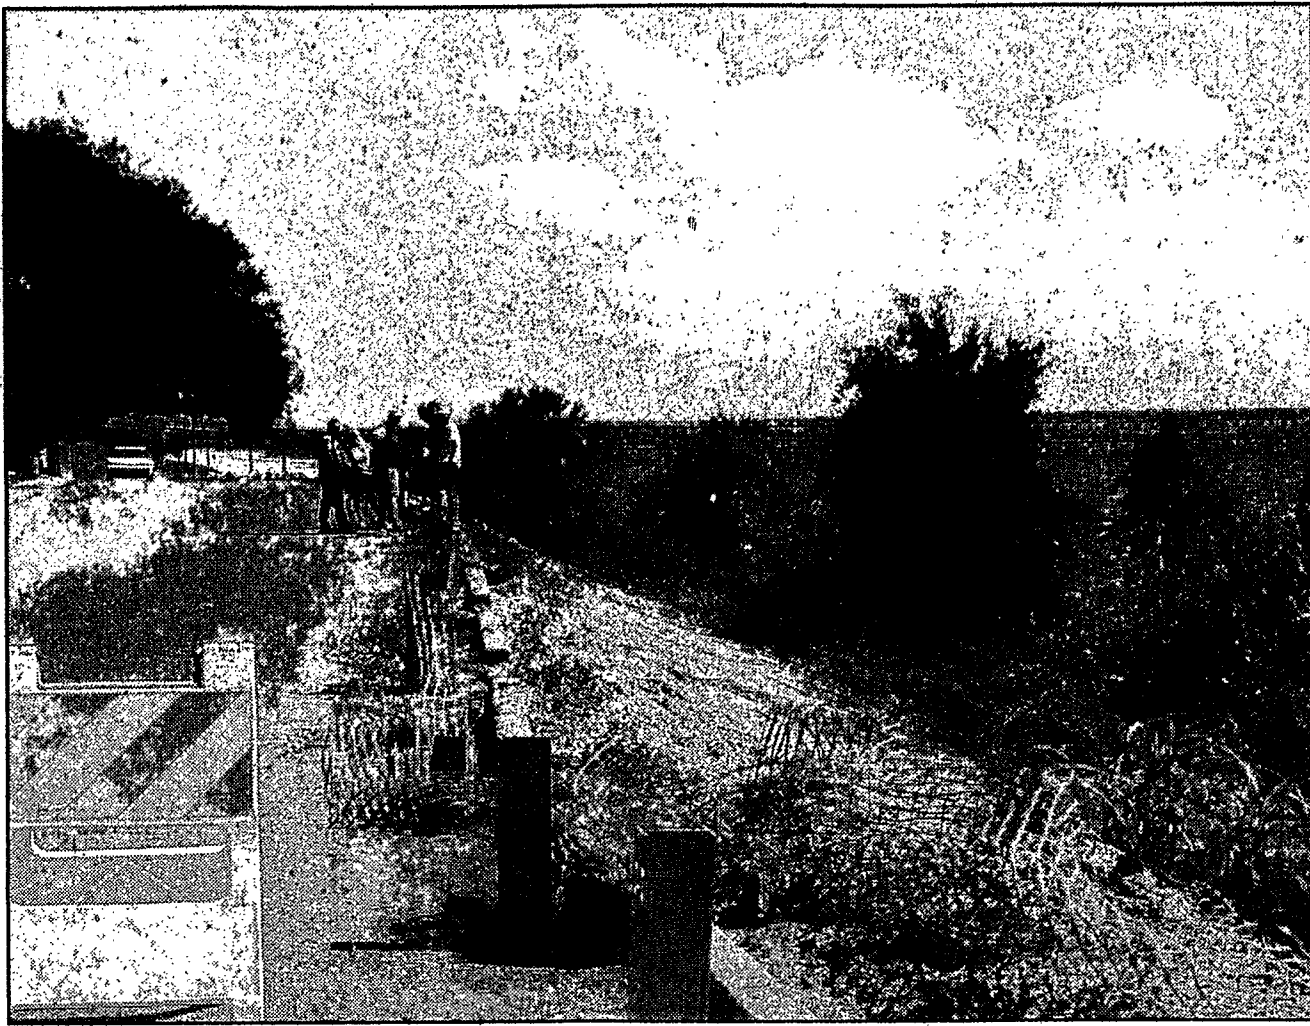

Bellegante said she doesn't look forward to looking out to the beach and seeing the gleaming silver interstate-type guardrail. Bellegante said supervisors should have informed property owners of their intentions to install the guardrail either by letter or by posting their intentions.

She said it would look better if the county installed wooden barriers with reflectors instead, like the ones on the beachside approaching St. Stanislaus College. Bellegante also asked the county to clear out the bushes and other growth that is blocking the view of the water from that section of time.

District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour admitted he had not informed his constituents about the project, but he will meet them on a one-to-one basis on future projects. He said he was attempting to resolve a safety problem by installing the guardrail.

The board's intentions to ask a contractor to bid on installing the guardrail were advertised in a legal advertisement in six-point type that ran in the Bayou and Bayou Caddy newspapers. Construction of the guardrail was low bidder on the contract at $17,875, and work is already underway.

About eight steel supports were cemented into the ground and the others are in place the whole length of the project, about 260 feet stretching along the beachfront. Another beachfront resident, David Avina, claimed the contractor, "Did what was the easiest thing to do." He said the support pilings should have gone further back rather than protruding into the roadway.

Supervisors Steve Seymour and Lisa Cowand were among those looking over work that has begun to install a guardrail at the steep incline on the beach side of Washington Street. Some residents have complained the interstate-type steel guardrail is ugly and is encroaching on the street.

Seymour asked County attorney Gerald Gex if the Board could issue a "cease and desist" order instructing the contractor to stop work until supervisors decide how to proceed.

Gex said if the Board selected that route, County Administrator Tim Kellar would have to declare a "State of Emergency" and explain the reasons in writing. He said the county would also bear the expense of the work and the materials the contractor has into the project so far.

Supervisors Seymour and Lisa Cowand insisted, decided to meet on site with the contractor Thursday. Also present was county engineer Geoff Clemens and Road Supt. Roger Ladner.

At press time, a decision on how to proceed was still up in the air, but work has stopped at the site. Near the close of the Board meeting, Cowand and District 1 Supervisor Jeep Ladner exchanged a few words over beach lighting.

At the request of the Board, Mississippi Power Co. had installed a series of five pilot lights in the vicinity of the Garfield-Ladner pier in Waveland. Crews began to proceed, installing more of the 250-watt, high-pressure sodium lights along the beachfront of the roadway stretching from Coleman Avenue to Washington Street in Bay St. Louis.

But, after complaints from some beachfront residents who claimed the lights were too bright and detracted from the tranquility of the beach, the lighting installation was halted in early August. And, at the direction of the Board, Mississippi Power turned off every other lightpole and beamed the lights more directly on the roadway rather than towards the beach.

Ladner said he had a beachfront resident asking for the light to be turned back on in the vicinity of Nicholson Avenue.

Cowand said she has Mississippi Power Co., officials wanting to know whether crews can continue installing the new lights. She said she has not had that many complaints about the higher-intensity lights.

"They want to know what we intend to do," she told Ladner.

Ladner said, "Maybe, we should poll the people."

He asked the Echo to inform beachfront residents they can call the supervisors' office at 467-0172 to let them know how they feel about extending the lighting.

While those two projects are up in the air, the dust still hasn't settled over the county's intentions to enforce its 60-foot-right-of-way in front of residences along the beach.

About 47 property owners in beachfront homes stretching from St. Charles Street in Bay St. Louis to Bayou Caddy have been notified they must remove landscaped gardens, decorative wooden rails, posts or other obstacles encroaching on the county's right-of-way. They were given until Aug. 31 to remove the obstacles or asked to give the county permission to remove the obstacles and place the items on the owner's property line.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

The time and place when everyone heard about the terrorist attack on the World Trade Center Tuesday, will be long remembered.

Jane and I were on our second day of a Hancock Bank Mystery Trip in Florida, along with some 43 other folks, all trying to figure out where we were really going when we received the sad news of the first plane slamming into the WTC.

The mood change of our group was as if someone had turned out a light at night. We made a stop at an old country store as part of our trip, and some of us were seeking more information on the disaster.

Many of us began to recall how we had heard word of World War II's beginning when Hawaii was attacked on December 7, 1941.

A "wake-up call" for America had never spread so rapidly in our nation's history as it has over the past several days.

As Americans, we must all remember where we came from. Our nation is a mixture of people from all over the world.

America was formed by oppressed people who were seeking freedom from tyranny. Others have arrived during our nation's history for many of the same reasons.

We have to keep in our prayers the families of all who have perished Tuesday, as the numbers of them as reported are going to be in the thousands. This means directly touching the lives of over a million, as well as our nation's population.

Over the past several days, Americans have once again, as in December, 1941, been brought back together as brothers and sisters united as one.

The terrorists of our nation have to be found and pay the price for their deeds of terrorism and threats to take away our freedoms.

We are united as a nation, stronger than ever, and 'right' will win out in the end.
God Bless America!

On Wednesday morning, Sept. 19, 7:30 to 9 a.m., U.S.

Navy Rear Adm. Thomas Q. Donaldson, V, will be the featured speaker for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Coffee Call.

This big event is to be held at the Bay St. Louis Depot.

Special sponsors of the Coffee Call are Irwin and Pat Cucullu of Bay St. Louis.

Adm. Donaldson is facility commander at the test site that hosts more oceanographers than at any other facility.

The Navy's Super Computer is one of the world's largest at Stennis, and the facility also houses the world's largest military oceanography library.

It is hoped there will be a large attendance at the Coffee Call, and I am sure Adm. Donaldson will be giving us some information on the latest activities at the facility located here in Hancock County.

The Coffee Call is for chamber members and guests. Come and bring a guest.

I am getting hungry just thinking about this event, and that is the Our Lady Academy's International Food Fest set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 21, 22 and 23.

This big event will take place on the grounds of Our Lady of the Gulf and Our Lady Academy, Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

There will be great food, fun, entertainment, games, arts and crafts and much more.

The great foods are of interest to me and many other folks, too. So many varieties are offered it is hard to choose, so a person has to visit the International Food Festival several times.

This is Our Lady Academy's big fund raiser, and parents and school administration, teachers and students work very hard to bring you only the best of everything.

I hope to see you at the International Food Festival.

Just looking ahead a bit, we have several more events that should be of interest to many folks.

Military base closure: It's BRAC again

I believe we need to close some military bases, but I think we must go a step further by reevaluating the way bases are to be closed, and we must also think long and hard before putting training bases and other domestic military assets on the chopping block, especially in light of America's new role in a post Cold War world.

When I first came to Congress, closing military bases was a much simpler task. The process was straightforward. Military leaders at the Pentagon made recommendations to Congress as to what facilities they felt should be closed.

Then, Congress made the sometimes hard decision to eliminate a base, which almost always had serious implications for the host community. It was not easy, but then again nobody ever said being a Congressman or U.S. Senator was supposed to be easy. Fast forward to the three base closure rounds of the 1990s, and the advent of the Base Realignment and Closure Commission (BRAC). This so-called independent board was supposed to take the politics out of base closure.

Instead of putting Senators or Representatives on the spot, the BRAC would essentially be a buffer, making the decisions and insulating Congress from the tough and controversial votes which can have a devastating impact on local economies and local people.

What ensued was a costly process in which BRAC has become as political, if not more political, than the old way. Communities throughout our country have even felt compelled to hire high-priced lawyers and put together teams of local leaders to donate time and money lobbying the BRAC — somewhat supplanting the traditional role of elected representatives as the ultimate voice for local interests.

After three rounds of BRAC in the last ten years, there remains to be seen a significant demonstration of cost savings — which is supposed to be the whole point of base closure.

BRAC has now been repackaged by its supporters as the "Efficient Facilities Initiative of 2001." Though the new title sounds a little less threatening to local communities, it is essentially a warmed-over version of BRAC. So, with another BRAC round threatened, I want to reassure Mississippians that I remain ardently opposed to the BRAC by any name, as I always have been. If we are to close bases, I believe it should be limited to one round.

Furthermore, I believe Congress itself should do this difficult job, instead of an unelected commission. Last year, I helped lead a successful charge to stop a BRAC round before it happened. This year, I am prepared to do the same thing. There is no guarantee of success, but there are some very significant factors which I believe are on the side of Mississippi's base communities today, which were not a factor in previous BRAC rounds.

First, while many bases have excess capacity, our training bases do not. America's training capacity has already been cut to the bone.

With new kinds of threats emerging every day, we can no longer afford to downsize our military, as we were doing during the last three closure rounds. Training installations like those in Mississippi are especially needed right now as America begins to rebuild her military.

At present, there is a wide, bipartisan consensus in Washington which holds that we are going to need our training bases, especially as we begin to rebuild our military and train new soldiers, sailors, and airmen. That is why I am suggesting that all training facilities be kept off any potential base closure list.

Second, throughout our country many of our military bases in urban areas are facing serious issues of encroachment. More people and businesses have surrounded the bases, oftentimes creating concerns about public safety and noise — even prompting lawsuits against the military.

However, in Mississippi this is not a significant problem, as most of our installations have ample room to expand. This menacing condition, which has manifested itself only recently, cannot be overlooked.

Given this situation, we should be expanding bases like Naval Air Station Meridian and Columbus Air Force Base, which are set apart from local residential and commercial centers.

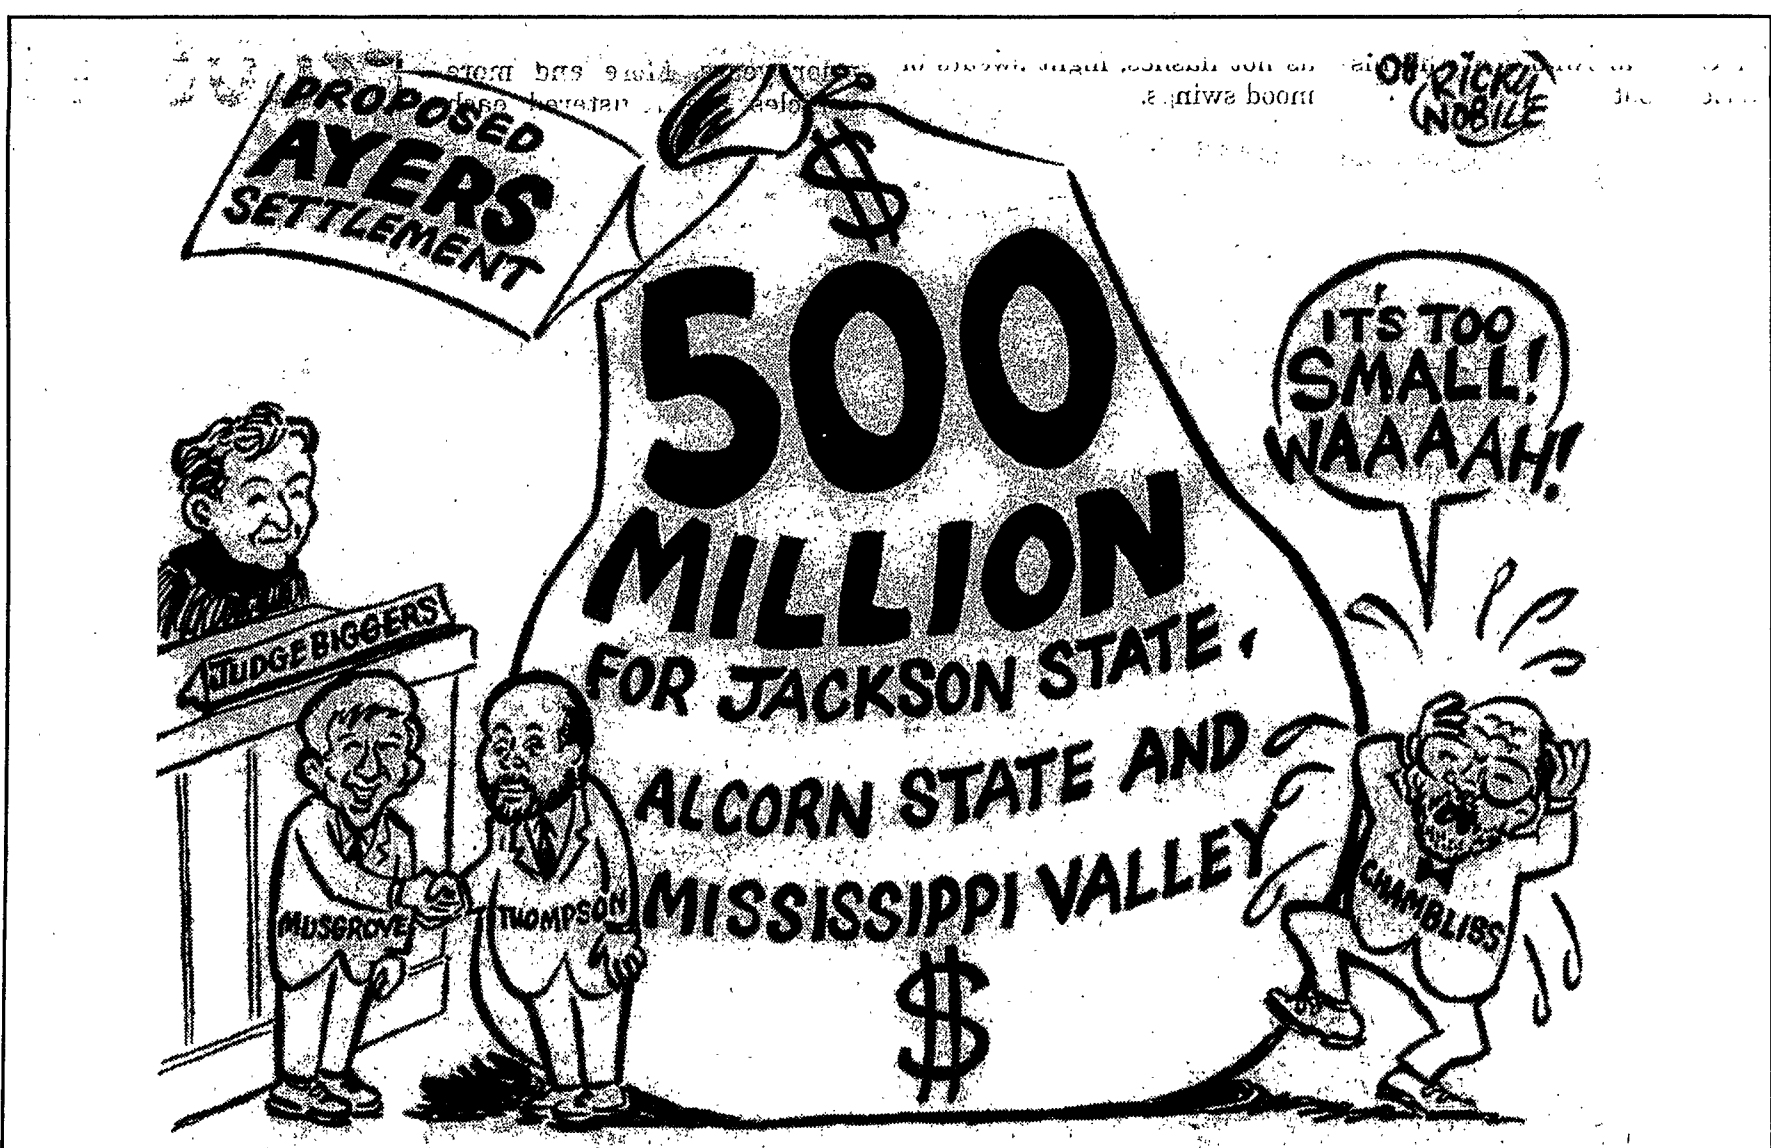

Finally and perhaps most importantly, America's role in the world has changed dramatically. I have been a very vocal advocate of first closing foreign military installations over domestic ones, many of which have the excess capacity I alluded to earlier.

The Continental Europeans especially should assume more of the burden of their own defense, and more of a role in world peacekeeping efforts.

These are wealthy, affluent and capable nations with diversified economies that can certainly cope with the closure of a few Cold War era U.S. military bases. It is certainly a concept worth entertaining which could save the American taxpayer a great deal of money and help support our people right here at home.

November's First Tuesday Talk speaker announced

Dr. Jerry Karabin, MD will be the guest speaker for November's First Tuesday Talk presented by the Bay's Division of Cultural Affairs at the historic Depot.

First Tuesday Talks are conducted noon-1 p.m. at the Depot, and guests may bring a brown-bag lunch. The event is free, and the city will provide a beverage. The speaker begins at 12:15 p.m.

"I was told not too long ago that a woman over 40 should never be seen fanning herself in public. If you find yourself 'glowing' more often in the air conditioning, Dr. Karabin's talk on hormone replacement therapy may be just what you need to hear," said Director of Cultural Affairs Mike Cuevas.

The production of estrogen declines as women approach the age of 50, or earlier in many cases. Hormone replacement therapy is available to relieve uncomfortable side effects such as hot flashes, night sweats or mood swings.

Dr. Karabin is a graduate of the University of Colorado, Temple Health Sciences Center, and Louisiana State University Medical Center.

He completed his OB/GYN internship and residency at Charity Hospital in New Orleans and opened his practice in Bay St. Louis in March 2001.

Hancock Medical Center has partnered with the City to present this free program for women about this pertinent woman's topic.

Reservations for First Tuesday Talks are not required and is presented free of charge to the public.

Cruisin' the Coast is set for October 3 to 7, and this year should be greater than it has in prior years. More and more vehicles are registered each year.

On October 4 and 5, at Buccaneer State Park, fourth graders from all schools are set to participate in the Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District's Conservation Education Field Day. The number of fourth graders in our school systems has made it necessary to divide the students into two groups in order to accommodate the many students. Stops for the students include Wildlife Habitat, Wetlands, Marine Debris, Forestry, Soils Recycling and Fire Safety.

This is a great program for our youngsters.

On Saturday, October 13, the Walk America benefit will take place from Buccaneer State Park to St. Clare Church and back.

Hancock County Tax Assessor/Collector Jimmie Ladner is this year's chairman.

We will be giving you more information on these events at the time nears.

Investors urged to be cautious

As markets reopen, investors are encouraged to take a cautious approach, particularly if they are considering selling securities in order to convert their assets to cash, according to Corky Hadden, financial advisor of the Bay St. Louis office of Raymond James Financial Services, member SIPC.

"We cannot allow the recent acts of terrorism to bring down the U.S. economic system," he continues.

"We, therefore, strongly recommend that investors not sell positions once the markets reopen unless they had planned to sell those positions prior to the attacks," Hadden advises.

"Maintaining the strength of our markets and the economy is one way we can strike back at these terrorist acts," Hadden stresses.

He explains that the various exchanges will do everything possible to maintain orderly markets. "However, there is a possibility that we could see lower openings and considerable volatility because of investor concerns.

"We have survived past crises and I am sure we will survive this one," Hadden said. "The key is not to panic."

Hadden adds that, although past performance does not guarantee future results, the Dow Jones Industrial Average was at approximately 117 when Pearl Harbor was attacked, fell 20 percent to 93 by early May 1942 and then rallied to 145 by July 1943.

In August 1962, at the time of the Cuban Missile Crisis, the Dow was at 615. It fell to 550 in October and then rose to 650 in December and 767 by December 1963, explains Hadden.

Finally, Hadden sites the impact of President Kennedy's assassination on the Dow. "The market fell nearly 20 points in 20 minutes before the exchanges shut down. When the markets reopened and Lyndon Johnson was sworn in as president, the Dow went from 712 to 815 by April 1964 and to 891 by November 1964."

If these events show anything, he adds, "they suggest that buying into these 'panics' is usually the most logical strategy."

In a final point, Hadden strongly recommended that investors stick with their long-term investment plans and consult with their financial advisors if they have any concerns.

Leslie North

North receives MAI

Hancock Bank assistant vice president Leslie Ryland North has earned distinction as only the second woman in Mississippi bestowed the professionally prestigious MAI (Member Appraisal Institute) designation.

The Appraisal Institute – the world's leading professional organization for real estate appraisers – confers MAI status to appraisers highly experienced in valuation and evaluation of commercial, industrial, residential, and other properties and in advising clients on real estate investments.

An appraiser since 1984, Gulfport native North joined Hancock Bank as a staff appraiser in 1991 and became appraisal department manager in 1992.

Having established Hancock's Louisiana appraisal division in 1999, she currently administers and monitors Hancock's appraisal operations throughout South Mississippi and Louisiana.

General certified appraiser and real estate broker North holds a bachelor of science degree in business administration, with an emphasis in real estate and insurance, from the University of Southern Mississippi.

She is also past president and secretary of the Harrison County Republic Women's Club.

County childcare workers complete credentialing project

The Forum on Children and Families announces the graduates of the 2000-2001 Child Care Director's Credentialing Training.

Six Hancock County child care providers have joined more than 850 individuals statewide who have successfully completed this training.

Earning the designation of C.D. are: Shanon Fitzgerald, Wendy Hopgood, and Rachel Ishee of Camp Magic; and Creola James and Doreen Jones of Stennis Child Development Center; and Sherry Payne of Angel Haven.

The Director's Credential is a statewide training program for child care center administrators operating licensed programs in the state of Mississippi.

The 135 hours of training helps improve the quality of care and the operation of safe, sustainable businesses.

According to an evaluation of the training program conducted by noted early childhood researcher Ann Mitchell, "the Mississippi director credential is having a positive impact on program practices that are associated with quality care and education."

"Parents should look for credentialed directors when making child care choices," said Jane Boykin, president of the forum.

New USM center expands ocean mapping applications

The creation of a new $3 million research center at Stennis Space Center to develop and broaden the applications of ocean mapping and navigation technology is under way through a University of Southern Mississippi and the U.S. Navy partnership, USM officials announced.

The Hydrographic Science Research Center's organization and initial research is supported through a $2.4 million award from the U.S. Department of the Navy and a $600,000 award from the Naval Oceanographic Office, part of the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command, both headquartered at Stennis.

"The focus of this new USM College of Marine Sciences enterprise is on technology that has moved the science of charting the ocean floor from paper to computer to users in the past 20 years," Dr. Jay Grimes, dean, said.

"The Naval Oceanographic Office and the U.S. Navy are our first clients, but we expect other government agencies, institutions and industry will also be using the center's services for understanding and adapting emerging trends to their particular needs."

Rear Adm. Kenneth E. Barbor, recently retired from the Navy, has joined the College of Marine Sciences team as director of the center.

Dr. Denis Wiesenburg, USM Department of Marine Science chair, is acting research director. The research and outreach of the new center complements the marine science department's master's degree program in hydrographic science.

Barbor said the classical aspects of hydrographic science – measuring, describing and charting the ocean floor – are still in force, but the technological explosion of the past 20 years offers challenges and creates tremendous potential.

"Getting a ship safely from deep water into coastal waters and to the dock is still of primary importance," he said. "But now coastal managers look to the hydrographers for information to assess fish habitats or to understand the processes that cause the silting of navigation channels."

The demand is also growing for a greater fidelity of knowledge, Barbor said. Refining the forecasting of tides and other environmental variables for timely fusion with charting information can benefit companies involved in ocean shipping.

"If a forecast for tides and meteorological conditions at the prescribed arrival time indicates a deeper draft can safely enter the channel, the increased draft represents millions of dollars in additional cargo."

Barbor said research to move such ideas from idea to reality is possible now because of technology developed in the last two decades: swath acoustics that create a 3-D picture of marine terrain features through sonar, global positioning through use of satellites, and computer technology that allows for assimilating and presenting massive quantities of data in useable ways.

"In reality, the application of these new technologies is in its infancy," Barbor said. "Because this science involves the safe navigation of ships, there are well-defined standards in place. It is not enough for a talented person to go off and do something really great with a computer program. The standards, as well as innovation and computer-based creativity, must be considered."

Celebration

Tigers pound Blue Devils 42-12; win third straight football game

By Maurice Singleton, Jr.
Bay High pounded Pearl River Central with a steady ground attack that netted an unofficial 332 yards in the Tigers' 42-12 win at Carriere Friday night.

The one-two punch of Charles Hawkins and Monroe Jordan led the charge with both players rushing for over 100 yards; a feat they have accomplished in each of the three games so far this season.

Jordan led all rushers with 124 yards, followed by Hawkins with 106 yards and a touchdown.

Ninth-grader Lorenzo Lewis contributed 63 rushing yards and a touchdown. Terrace Thomas punished the Blue Devils with three touchdowns and 37 yards rushing. Thomas scored on runs of five and one yards and was on the receiving end of a touchdown pass from sophomore quarterback Zack Ferry.

On defense, the Tigers did an excellent job of containing the Blue Devils' potent ground game.

"This game tells me that we know how to come out and focus," said Bay High coach Glenn Williams. "We didn't have a letdown tonight. When they (Tigers) play hard and focus, good things happen."

"We wanted to give them

(Blue Devils) something to think about by coming out and scoring on that first series," Williams added. "Even though we didn't get the touchdown, we got the field goal."

Hawkins gave the Tigers excellent field position by taking the opening kickoff 36 yards to the Bay High 49 yard line. Hawkins and Jordan shared the rushing responsibility while picking up three first downs.

Hawkins scored on the drive on a 14-yard run, but a holding penalty against the Tigers nullified the score.

Kicker Timmy Wright kicked a 36-yard field goal to give Bay High a 3-0 lead at the 6:30 mark of the first quarter.

On the Blue Devils' first play from scrimmage, Tiger's Micheal Simpkins forced a turnover, knocking the ball out of the hands of the quarterback as he attempted to hand off. The Tigers recovered on the Pearl River Central 30 yardline.

Thomas got the points on a five yard run as the Tigers capitalized on the turnover. Wright kicked the extra point for a 10-0 Bay High lead.

The Tigers began their next possession at their own 46 yardline. Hawkins broke away for a 34-yard run, but fumbled at the Blue Devil seven. Three plays later, Pearl River Central were back in the contest on a 93-yard pass play for a touchdown.

The PAT was mishandled and recovered by the Tigers, keeping the score at 10-6 with 4:11 left in the half.

Both defense stiffened at this point as each held the other's offense to four snaps on their following possessions.

But the Tigers' Johnny Hozey slipped into the Blue Devils' backfield and pressured the punter into adjusting his effort. The punt netted a mere 6 yards, giving Bay High a first and ten at the Pearl River 23.

Jordan bulldozed his way for 15 yards on first down, setting up a first-and-goal at the nine. On third down, Hawkins found an opening outside the right tackle for a six yard touchdown run. Wright's PAT upped the Tiger lead to 17-6.

Jordan knocked the ball from the hands of the Blue Devil carrier on the first play of the ensuing series and recovered it at the Pearl River Central 38 yardline.

With just under 30 seconds left in the half, Thomas took the hand-off from Ferry, ran right and completed a pass to Lewis at the 3 yardline. On the next play, Ferry hit Thomas in the endzone for the score. Wright's PAT gave the Tigers a 24-6 lead with just 22 ticks remaining in the opening half.

The Tigers' defense got in on the scoring when Jordan sacked the Blue Devil quarterback in the endzone for a safety and two more points midway through the third quarter.

Wright increased the lead to 27-6 with a 23-yard fieldgoal at the 3:55 mark of the third stanza.

The Tigers held the Blue Devils to negative yardage and four snaps on their next possession. Bay High took over on first down, Lewis broke away on the right side for 32 yards all the way to the Pearl River one yardline. Thomas took the ball and got the points on the next play. Wright again booted the ball through the uprights for the extra point and a 36-6 Tiger advantage.

Lewis closed out the Tiger scoring with a 5-yard run with 22 second remaining in the game to give Bay High a 42-12 win.

The Tigers open district play Friday night when they host East Central for homecoming at J.D. McCullough Stadium in Bay St. Louis.

Former Rocks add punch in PRCC's 42-10 win over Holmes

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Pearl River Wildcats continued to rack up the yardage in Poplarville on Thursday, September 13, with a 42-10 win over the visiting Holmes Bulldogs. The win improved the Wildcats' record to 2-0 on the young season.

PRCC tallied 551 yards of total offense against the Bulldogs en route to the win.

PRCC quarterback Charlie Reeve set new school records for 44 pass attempts and 25 completions as the Wildcats opened up a 30-0 lead in the first half. Reeve totaled 262 yards passing on the night coupled with back-up Daniel Forrest' 119 yards passing late in the fourth quarter.

PRCC is Region XXIII's number one offense with 1,088 total yards in just two games. Of that total, 818 yards is passing yardage.

The Wildcats struck quickly and often in the first half of play. PRCC wide receiver Jaron Fountain of Haynes City, Florida, raced 53 yards on a reverse down to the Bulldogs' 12 yardline. Three plays later Kiel Angry plunged two yards for the score. Matt Hoda connected on the PAT to make the score 7-0.

John Feaster of Picayune recovered a loose ball on the Bulldogs' first possession to set the stage for the next PRCC score. Reeve hit Ike Chekwa of New Orleans for an 11-yard scoring strike. Hoda made the PAT for a 14-0 lead.

The Wildcat defense held firm behind the play of St. Stanislaus' Jason Santiago and Hancock's Desmon Smith. It took the PRCC offense seven plays to pad their lead.

Reeve hit Fountain with a 22-yard scoring pass to make the count 21-0 after Hoda's PAT.

The Wildcats drove to the Bulldog 11 yardline before sputtering out. Hoda booted a 19-yard field goal to make the score 24-0.

The Wildcats added one more score before intermission. Reeve hit O'Shek Weekly for a 12-yard scoring pass with 9:51 left in the first half. The PAT missed leaving the score at 30-0.

The Bulldogs battled back late in the first half when Matt Jones kicked a 39-yard field goal to put Holmes on the board 30-3.

Marvin Vaughn closed out the Bulldog scoring with a three-yard score just before halftime. Jones' PAT was good making the score 30-10.

In the second half, PRCC managed two more scores. Forrest connected with former SSC standout Aaron Dunklin for an 85-yard scoring pass. The PAT was no good leaving the score 36-10.

The ensuing kickoff was fumbled and PRCC recovered deep in Bulldog territory. Three plays later, Forrest found former Rock-a-chaw Kris Cannon alone for a 16-yard score. The PAT missed leaving the final score 42-10.

PRCC was flagged 18 times for 180 penalty yards in the game.

PRCC head coach Scott Maxfield commented, "We had a solid game plan tonight and the players executed it. I was upset with the amount of penalties we had. That has to be corrected. It is my fault that we are not playing smarter in that area of the game and it will be corrected."

The Wildcats open South Division play next Thursday, September 20, against Hinds Community College in Raymond. The game is set for 7pm.

Wildcat run

Pearl River Community College running back Kris Cannon runs for a few yards in the Wildcats' 42-10 victory over the Bulldogs Thursday in Dobie Holden Stadium. Cannon, a freshman out of St. Stanislaus, finished the game with three runs for 14 yards and two receptions for 23 yards, including a 16-yard TD toss from quarterback Charlie Reeve. The undefeated (2-0) Wildcats travel to Raymond this Thursday to take on defending state champion Hinds at 7 p.m. to open both teams' South Division schedule. Hinds is also undefeated at 2-0 following Thursday's 53-3 blowout over Northeast in Booneville. --- PRCC Sports Information Photo

Rochon returns to Sea Wolves lineup

The Mississippi Sea Wolves announce the re-signing of veteran defenseman Patrick Rochon. The 26-year-old from Ste-Martine, Quebec is the only original player remaining from the 1996-97 season.

Rochon enters the campaign as the Sea Wolves' all-time assists leader with 134, plus he also holds the team record for games played with 332.

Last season, the durable Rochon played in all 72 games scoring 4 goals and tallying 21 assists to go along with his 123 penalty minutes.

Sea Wolves Head Coach/Director of Hockey Operations Bob Woods is looking for Rochon to be a leader on the blueline.

"With the young guys we're going to have this year, they will need to look for someone for guidance. Patrick plays strong defensively, gets under the skin of the opponents. He'll show the new players how to make it miserable for the opposition."

Rochon is eager to lead by example. "I want to make Coach Woods' job easier. I've paid the price in the gym this summer, and I'm in excellent shape. I'm excited and looking forward to a great season."

Season tickets are on sale now. The Sea Wolves have plans for any budget, schedule or lifestyle. Opening weekend begins Friday, Oct. 12 and Saturday, Oct. 13. Call the Mississippi Sea Wolves' Hockey Office for more details at 228-275-WOLF or visit website msseawolves.com.

Bearcats down SSC, 10-0

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

If you ever heard the old saying that one play can change the face of the game, then tonight was the night. And, one play changed the face of the game. That one play was a 59-yard scoring pass just before half-time in the Long Beach Bearcats' 10-0 win over the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws "between the walls" on Friday, September 14.

The Bearcats scored with 1:45 left in the first half when Eddie Berger connected with Jay Hawthorne for the game's only touchdown of the night. The pass play covered 59 yards.

This was the third straight shutout loss for the Rocks this season. SSC came closest to scoring in this game when they advanced to the Bearcat 10 yardline late in the fourth quarter.

SSC head coach Dave Kenson stated, "I was very encouraged by the play of the defense tonight. They gave up one big play all game. However, you can't win if you don't score. We just could not get things started tonight. Mistakes and inconsistency on the offense plagued us all game. We did some things better but we were still plagued with mistakes after some big plays of our own."

Long Beach started the game on offense with a 14-play drive that took off roughly seven minutes on the clock. Jarvis Shelby took the load of work on offense for the Bearcats. He carries the ball ten times on the drive including seven in a row. While the Bearcats did gain four first downs, the Rock defense held tough led by Matt Chester, Mike O'Neal, Aaron White, Lee Klein, Mike Cure, Nick Weinmann, B.J. Ledet, Kit Stovall, and Gabe Willis.

The Rock defense stiffened when Long Beach entered their territory. After 14 plays, the Bearcats came away with just a field goal. The Bearcats kicked a 42-yard field goal with 4:19 left in the first quarter to make the score 3-0.

The Rocks fumbled away their first possession to Long Beach. After spending the first seven minutes on the field, the SSC defense trotted back onto the gridiron.

The Rock defense held tough and Spencer Zeigler forced a fumble that was recovered by O'Neal at the Rock 33 yardline. The Rocks had new life but punted away to the Bearcats after three plays.

Solid hits at the line by Klein, Cure, and Willis coupled with pressure from Stovall forced the Bearcats to turn the ball over to the Rocks on downs.

Three Long Beach penalties helped keep the Rocks' seven-play drive going; however, in the end the Rocks had to punt. SSC punter Jeremy Keller punted from Long Beach's 48 yardline. Keller pinned the Bearcats back at their own six yardline.

Berger pulled his team out of the hole with a 20-yard run. After a quarterback sack by Stovall and Chester, Berger completed a pass to Shelby for a gain of 11 yards.

Three plays later the Berger completed a 59-yard scoring pass to Hawthorne with 1:45 left to play in the first half. The PAT was good making the final score 10-0.

The Rocks came out throwing on their next possession. SSC signal caller Tim Kulikowski connected with Dustin Coogan on a diving 36-yard catch. Another first down pass of 14 yards was complete to Willis down at the Long Beach 30 yardline. However, busted assignments allowed Long Beach to sack Kulikowski for a six-yard loss. On the final play of the half the Rocks were intercepted in the endzone to stop the Rocks' threat.

The second half was one that had extended drives for both teams that resulted in punts. The Rocks opened the second half with an eight-play drive that ended in a Keller 44-yard punt.

The defense held firm in the Bearcats' 12-play opening possession of the second half. White, Klein, and Chester repeatedly pounded on Shelby and Berger. Long Beach punted away to the Rocks.

A nine-yard pass play to Willis from Kulikowski highlighted the Rocks next drive. Again, Keller punted the Rocks out of a hole with a 45-yarder that put Long Beach back at their own 25 yardline.

On this drive, the Bearcats seemed to be going in reverse. Long Beach was plagued by two penalties on this drive and they punted away to the Rocks. SSC got their best field position of the night at their own 49 yardline.

SSC mounted their most productive drive of the night. SSC quarterback Jeremy Lewis completed a 20-yard pass to Willis for a Rock first down to the Bearcat 20 yardline.

A pass to Coogan brought the Rocks closer to paydirt at the Bearcat 10 yardline. A penalty pushed the Rocks back five yards. Two plays later the Rocks were stopped with a interception at the Long Beach 14 yardline.

The Rocks did get the ball back for one play but time was their enemy on this drive and it ran out.

The loss drops the Rocks to 0-3 on the season while Long Beach improved to 1-2.

Gabe Willis finished the game with three catches for 42 yards. He had two big gains on the ground called back due to penalties. Willis also added eight total tackles on defense.

Other defensive stars for the Rocks were Lee Klein with 12 total stops on the night. Matt Chester added nine tackles with 1.5 sacks. Aaron White put up seven tackles including 2.5 sacks. Michael Cure got in on the action tallying eight total stops on defense. Jeremy Keller punted four times for a 41-yard average.

Long Beach's Jarvis Shelby led the way for the Bearcats rushing 26 times for 154 yards.

The Rocks will be on the road next Friday as they travel to Ocean Springs to take on the Greyhounds in their final non-district game of the season. The game is slated for a 7:30pm kickoff at Greyhound Stadium.

Sea Wolves re-sign goalie

The Mississippi Sea Wolves announced the re-signing of Sea Wolves goalie Chuck Thuss. The seven-year veteran of the ECHL, which included stints with Louisiana, Birmingham and Mobile, will return in 2001-2002 for his fourth year with the Sea Wolves. Thuss started 34 games last season allowing 95 goals, 2.93 per game, while making 990 saves.

Sea Wolves' head coach Bob Woods is guaranteed at least one contracted goalie to be sent to Mississippi from either the Springfield Falcons or the Quebec Citadelles.

Hawks whip Greyhounds, 34-13

by Dwayne Bremer
Contributing Writer

The Hancock Hawks got their welcome to class 5A football Friday night, and they looked like the teacher instead of the pupil. The Hawks jumped out of the gates, taking advantage of the talents of junior wideout Terry "The Streak" Lewis, who tallied three touchdowns, leading the Hawks to a 34-13 victory over the Ocean Springs Greyhounds.

"We did some things better tonight," Hawks head Coach Rocky Gaudin said. "We made a few mistakes, but the overall effort was good."

The win was costly for the Hawks, as starting tackle Kenny Smith tore the ACL ligament in his knee, and may be out for the season.

The Hawks struck early, taking over at the 31 after an interception by Lewis. Quarterback Brandon Necaise threw to Ervin Jackson, who threw to Lewis on the double pass for a 70-yard touchdown. Chase Sackett boot the point-after and the Hawks had a 7-0 lead.

"We had practiced that play all week," Gaudin said. "The players thought I was crazy, but I thought it would work."

After a defensive stop, Lewis got his second chance to shine. Jackson took in a punt at the Hawks 35. Jackson handed off to Lewis on the reverse, and Lewis took it to the house for a 65-yard touchdown. Sackett added the extra point, and with 8:22 to play in the first quarter, the Hawks led 14-0.

After a defensive stand, the Hancock offense slowed the pace of the game, eventually driving 86 yards in 14 plays for the team's third score of the evening.

Jackson started things out with a nine-yard run. Daniel Spiers picked up a first down, and runs by Sackett and Jackson gave the Hawks another first down at the 38. After a holding penalty, Necaise hit David Brown on a nice 28-yard reception, giving the Hawks a first down at the 37. Runs by Jackson and Sackett moved the ball to the Greyhounds 24. Brown then took an end-around hand-off, and went 24 yards for the Hawks' third touchdown. Sackett's point-after was no good, but the Hawks had a 20-0 lead with 8:22 to play in the half.

The Greyhounds were quick to strike back, as Richard Fairley took the kickoff back 91 yards for a Greyhound touchdown. Josh Gifford added the point-after, and the Greyhounds were on the board 20-7. The teams traded punts, and the Hawks took over at the 15 with just over three minutes to play in the half. Jackson had runs of eight and four yards for a first down, and Hawks ground out another first down after runs by Spiers and Elliot. Necaise then attempted a pass for Lewis, but Josh Jones picked off the pass at the 45. Jones brought the ball all the way back to the Hawks' seven yardline.

With time as a factor, the Greyhounds went for the endzone. Dan O'Brien rolled out to throw. Jed Duke intercepted O'Brien's pass a yard deep in the endzone, and Duke took the ball back all the way for a Hawk touchdown. The 101-yard score was a school record for longest interception and for a touchdown. Sackett added the point-after, and with only two seconds left in the half, the Hawks had a 27-7 lead.

They seized the momentum and the game in the next half as they put together a six-play scoring drive. Jackson returned the second-half kickoff 30 yards to give the Hawks good field position at the 44. Jackson and Spiers ran for a Hawks' first down. After a holding penalty, the Hawks were faced with a third-and-long for the 50. Necaise dropped back and launched a bomb that Lewis hauled in at the ten. Lewis walked in the rest of the way for his third touchdown of the game. Sackett added the point-after, and the Hawks had a commanding 34-7 lead.

The Hancock defense stopped the Greyhounds' next drive thanks to an interception by Sackett, and the offense began to grind the clock.

"We got in a good flow on offense and we stuck together," junior lineman Alan Pace said.

The Greyhounds managed a three-yard touchdown by Fairley with 7:59 left in the fourth quarter, making the score 34-13.

The Hawk defense, however, ended all hope for Ocean Springs on its next possession as Domke recovered a fumble and the Hawks offense ran out the clock.

Hancock was led by David Brown, who had 66 yards rushing, and Jackson, who netted 49 yards. Necaise threw for 107 yards. On defense, Domke had an outstanding game with nine tackles, three tackles for a loss, a sack and a fumble recovery. Charles Bolden and Matt Rayborn chipped in with five tackles and a sack each.

"We did the job all night and held them in the redzone twice," Rayborn said.

"I thought that Ocean Springs played hard and kept coming at us," Gaudin said. "I was disappointed in the penalties. We have decided to have a little fun this season - we've tried a few different things, and we're working on some others."

The Hawks are now 2-1 on the season.

They travel to St. Martin next week to take on the Yellow Jackets.

Pass Christian couple makes fine art of 'dream come true'

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Marian Knobbe and her husband, Don Scott, have made their dreams come true in their Pass Christian art gallery. Knobbe, who said she has been a painter "since I was a really little kid," has realized her dream of using her creative talents, and Scott has realized his dream of being in business for himself.

"It is a giant leap of faith and also a little scary," said Scott. "But it is a very liberating experience."

When Knobbe's parents retired to the Coast in the early 80's she followed them here. She moved to the Coast in 1983, and has been at the gallery for seven years.

Knobbe grew up as a "military brat," she said. She has lived all over the country in such far away places as New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Denver. She earned a bachelor's degree in art from Denver Metro State University. After graduation, she traveled to England, she said, where she spent two years visiting museums, working in galleries and painting.

When her two children were growing up, she had a lot less time for painting, Knobbe said, but compensated by covering the walls of her children's rooms with colorful murals. To earn money along the way, she got into the restaurant business, managing corporate establishments, and got "sidetracked for 20 years," she said.

Finally, Knobbe decided that if she was so successful at making money for someone else, she could turn that talent around to make her own dreams work. As a result, she has finally found her way back to devoting her time to her art - Blue Skies Gallery.

After spending almost 11 years in the United States Air Force as an electronics technician, Scott took a full-time position as a service technician at Sears. While Knobbe was getting the gallery started, his job kept the family afloat.

"I discovered right away that we needed to sell something besides art or we would starve to death," said Scott.

Because he had a strong background in carpentry and finished woodworking, it was only natural for the couple to add a framing service to the gallery. Later, they also added art supplies to their stock.

"I couldn't find what I needed on the Coast, so I thought, why not sell our own art supplies," said Knobbe. "That way we could add to the business and I could have what I needed at the same time."

The idea worked, and in 1996 Scott was able to give up his full-time job and devote his time to the gallery. Though he stays mainly in the background, "Marian is the one with the art background," Scott said he has recently, "found his medium," as well. He recently started pottery classes and, said he loves the experience.

The gallery features not only Knobbe's art, but the work of at least 20 other artists. Pieces range from paintings, watercolors, pastels, charcoal drawings, acrylics, mixed mediums, pottery and sculpture. Colorful murals adorn the building itself. "We are always looking for new artists," said Knobbe.

At present, Knobbe is working on what she calls her "cloud series."

"I'm trying to capture the feeling when you go outside and see these incredible cloud formations, times when you can't tell the clouds from the water," she said. Knobbe works in various mediums, but her clouds are done in a watercolor wash of broad strokes, "not realistic, yet not abstract," she said.

During the upcoming Collage and Petit Collage event, the gallery will host a show by Pass High School art students on Saturday, Sept. 29, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Collage will be held in Pass Christian on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 29 and 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The event is sponsored by the merchants of Pass Christian and the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce in historic downtown.

The event will be held in conjunction with "Celebrate the Gulf" at the Pass Christian Harbor.

Today, Main Street Methodist Church has decided to turn its annual picnic into a community prayer service and picnic. Everyone in the community is invited to bring a covered dish and share comfort, food, and fellowship during this difficult time. The event will be held at Pavilion 3 at Buccaneer Park starting at 12:30 p.m.

The Interfaith Alliance of Mississippi will hold what has turned out to be a very timely event. The Alliance will hold a candlelight vigil and bonfire in conjunction with a nationwide campaign to "Stop the Hate." The purpose of the event will be to raise the awareness of hate crimes, violence, and prejudice and stress the importance of replacing this attitude with one of mutual respect, and tolerance for one another.

"We almost decided not to hold the vigil this year," said Vice President and Co-chair

Kimberly Martin. "But as it turned out, it will be a very timely event and mean so much more in this time of need. We want to tell people that they can take a stand and make a difference and build a community based on respect. A vision of healing is a voice of hope and that is what we seek."

The vigil will be held at the Washington Street Pier on October 4 at 6 p.m. For more information call 497-5791.

Encephalitis

another horse north of the Kiln community in the second week of August. Lab tests came back confirming the presence of Eastern Equine Encephalitis, he said.

The veterinarian said their is a vaccine that "is very effective" in combating the almost-always fatal disease. He urged owners of horses, mules and donkeys to get their animals vaccinated. The cost is inexpensive, around $12. The vaccine can be administered by the owner of the animal or by a vet, he said.

The symptoms of detecting the virus are easy to spot, Lee said.

"Usually, the animal appears sleepy or lazy. As the disease progresses, the animal can go blind. Eventually, he will be uncoordinated, and appears to be staggering. Finally, he goes down and he can't get up. He will probably go into seizures," Lee said.

He said the disease can sometimes be fatal to the animal within eight to 12 hours in the worst "hot" cases, while others can last longer, but most of the animals infected will most likely die.

There are four different types of encephalitis viruses found in this country, Eastern Equine, West Nile, St. Louis and LaCrosse. All of the viruses are transmitted by mosquitoes, which get it from infected birds.

A horse infected with Eastern Equine Encephalitis cannot infect a human, but an infected mosquito which bites a human can bring on encephalitis.

Lee said he didn't want people to think he was commenting as a medical doctor, but he is advising keeping children indoors at peak times, at dawn and dusk, and using some type of repellent on children.

He said he hoped the Mosquito Control firm serving Hancock County will also beef up spraying, especially in the areas where the two horses fell victim.

Lee said he will continue to monitor the situation.

Mississippi Mosquito Control, which has offices in Hancock and Jackson County, is also closely monitoring the situation, according to Tony Sciambra, who is in charge of Hancock County spraying and mosquito control.

He said he was informed of the most recent suspected case of Eastern Equine Encephalitis, and plans were to increase spraying in the Kiln and Leetown areas.

"We're always monitoring the situation and taking a count (of the mosquito population) in all areas of the county," said Sciambra. "So far, this year, it's really not bad."

Besides aerial spraying, Sciambra said a liquid bacteria that activates with water is used to destroy larvae (mosquito eggs) forming in the county's ditches.

Sciambra said although Hancock County has made great progress extending sewerage collection lines to 95 percent of the county south of Interstate 10, larvae remains a problem.

"There's still areas in the county where there is raw sewerage running into the ditches, and mosquitoes are breeding in them with or without rain," said Sciambra.

He said his crews could spend eight to 10 hours a day just on treating ditches.

In Louisiana, Gov. Mike Foster last week declared a state of emergency in Ouachita Parish, allowing the National Guard to assist in anti-mosquito efforts.

So far, 52 people in or around Monroe have contacted the St. Louis strain of encephalitis and two have died.

In Mississippi, only six people developed some form of encephalitis between May and last August, according to state health officials.

But, state epidemiologist Mary Currier is urging those who spend a lot of time outdoors to take precautions.

She advises citizens to avoid going out at dusk and dawn, the worst time for mosquitoes.

She also recommends wearing shoes, socks, pants and long-sleeved shirts, and use mosquito repellent with DEET.

It also helps to keep grass cut and to get rid of standing water where mosquitoes can breed, she said.

Awesome summer can mean great fall color

SOUTHERN GARDENING
BY NORMAN WINTER
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research & Extension
Center

This has been an awesome summer from the standpoint of temperature and moisture. Landscapes are looking great, and it is pleasant to get out and dig in the dirt. I'm sure my agronomy professor just rolled his eyes because we were taught never to call it dirt but soil.

Nevertheless, this is the time to consider planting for some of our best fall color. Garden mums are ready, and there are some huge advantages to making those purchases now. One is that selection is best this early in the season.

In the past couple of years, Yoder Brothers have brought us loads of new mum varieties. Some that have caught my eye are the multicolored varieties like Stacy (purple and white) and Roxanne (rose, white and yellow). There is sure to be a new selection or two available where you shop.

Planting now has a lot of merit. You will get full value for the dollars spent because the plant's first buds will open in your landscape rather than the garden center.

Rain is plentiful, but should it turn dry, you will want to keep your mums well watered to ensure you will have glorious fall color for weeks.

By choosing types according to bloom season, it is possible to have mums blooming until November. Some of my personal favorites are Lavender Champagne and Debonair, white Frolic, pink Naomi and the old standard Yellow Jacket.

There is certainly nothing wrong with buying some later with color starting to show. I do that every year for decorating around my porch and patio.

Mums are readily available in 4-inch, 6-inch and 1-gallon containers, with some tremendous 2- and 3-gallon selections that will have hundreds of flowers. You will be most happy by mass planting single colors in the landscape.

Another great fall bloomer to plant now is the marigold. Its bold colors and striking flowers are perfect for fall displays. Depending on the variety, the blooms cover the plants and may range from the size of a quarter to a tennis ball. These plants will bloom until the first frost.

Garden mums and marigolds prefer full sun in well-drained beds rich in organic matter. Prepare beds with 3 to 4 inches of organic matter and till to a depth of 8 to 10 inches.

Make your first application of fertilizer for mums with the emergence of new spring

Scout Pack 381, Webelos, Den 3, present red, white, and blue ribbons to Bay Catholic students on Friday. The Pack presented the flag at a prayer and five minutes of silence ceremony at noon. President George W. Bush asked that all church bells ring and Americans observe five minutes of silence in honor of our country and those who have died.

Talking with your children when the talking gets tough

Wars, shootings in schools, natural disasters, deaths at sporting events - as adults we hope that these and other tragic outcomes will never happen anywhere and definitely will not impact the children and youth we care about.

We would like to protect those young minds from the pain and horror of difficult situations. We would like to ensure that they have happy, innocent, and carefree lives.

So what is a parent, teacher, or other caring adult to do when disasters fill the airwaves and the consciousness of society?

• Don't assume that the kids don't know about it.

They probably know more than you think. The reality of today's world is that news travels far and wide.

Adults and children learn about disasters and tragedies shortly after they occur, and live video footage with close-ups and interviews are part of the report.

Children and youth are exposed to the events as soon as they can watch TV or interact with others who are consumers of the news. Not talking about it does not protect

God Bless America

BY LAUREN TURCOTTE
6TH GRADE
BAY WAVELAND MIDDLE SCHOOL
God bless America on this horrible day. We have been hurt in the worst of ways.

The buildings collapse, thousands are dead. The next few weeks we are left to dread.

Planes become weapons that have scarred our hearts. You people of hatred have torn us apart.

You hurt us that day, but we still stand tall. We are truly United and try to catch who fall.

Terrorism isn't a sport, it is not a game, the country who's killed, please take the blame.

We are frightened and scared but ready to fight. I'll remember this day all of my life.

You've hurt us all, we've prayed and cried, but it doesn't replace the thousands who've died.

For I am young, you think it wouldn't affect, but you've left me hurt and New York City a wreck.

I mourn for the families, the thousands who now sleep. We remember you all, please rest in peace.

God bless America, the home of the brave, for we are truly united, as the United States!

Waveland Elementary students were given the opportunity to sign a condolence book which will be sent from Hancock County to New York, for the victims and families of Tuesday's terrible tragedy. The book has been on display for public signing at Riemann Funeral Home. When Randy and Maxine Taravouille's six-year-old son, Terry, asked to sign the book, the couple realized that it was important for local children to participate in the gesture. Pictured are first graders Taylor Miller, Terry Taravouille, and Raney Rogers.

Bay-Waveland Head Start students say the Pledge of Allegiance Friday morning as part of a patriotic gathering in memory of the victims of Tuesday's violence.

1961: Bay battens down as Carla kicks up her heels

TEN YEARS AGO

September 8, 1991 - In the St. Stanislaus' 138-year history, the Rock-A-Chaws have been known as spoilers in field and track, football, baseball, basketball and boxing, even victorious against junior and senior college competition; but, no victory was sweeter than the Rocks topping the Gulfport Admirals Friday night at Milner stadium.

Gulfport, a 5-A team, is ranked fifth in the state by the Associated Press and number one on the Coast by the Sun Herald Prep Poll.

St. Stanislaus defeated Gulfport 33-27, leaving the Admirals' fans shaking their heads and not believing the 4-A rated Rocks had toppled their team. It was a hot, humid night with sprinkles of drizzle rain throughout the contest, and on occasion, the officials would call extra time-outs for heat, as Stanislaus sizzled from the opening kick-off.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

September 10, 1981 - Bay St. Louis residents will soon be required to pay interest penalties on delinquent utility bills. The Council Tuesday night unanimously approved an ordinance amendment requiring the residents to pay utility bills no later than 10 days after the statement date and 1.5 percent monthly interest on past due amounts.

The Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday night narrowly approved an ordinance prohibiting placing any structures on beachfront property except in the downtown business district. Specifically, the law will prohibit erection of any new permanent structures on the bay side of Beach Boulevard except in an area roughly extending from the Louisville and Nashville Railroad to the State Street intersection.

FORTY YEARS AGO

September 14, 1961 - Hancock County's waterfront battened down in a hurry Saturday as Hurricane Carla kicked up her heels and threatened to run this way, giving local Civil Defense organizations a major test on its preparedness status.

Lucien Kidd, Bay St. Louis CD director who was appointed area director by state authorities, said public cooperation was excellent as word went out rapidly that the county may share in the brunt of the storm. He estimated about 1,500 persons evacuated themselves to higher locations, from the low-lying areas of the county, and approximately 50 made use of shelters provided at Bay High and Waveland Schools.

A six-member cheering squad has been elected by students of Hancock North Central School for the coming sports season. Named were Carrie Mae Hardy, Margaret Gay Hoda, Janie Lou Ladner, Rosemary Bazor, Elaine Holden, Wanda Ladner and

Clark: Beware of bogus charities during time of national tragedy

Secretary of State Eric Clark and charities regulators across the country expressed concern that some scam artists may exploit the recent terrorist attacks on the United States for personal gain at the expense of heroic firefighters and policemen.

"It's a sad and despicable fact that every tragedy is followed by criminals who exploit the generosity and of sympathy of Americans," Clark said.

"It's also a fact that firefighters, police officers, and other law enforcement personnel often are targeted for abuse by bogus telephone solicitors. All of us need to give wisely at this time of crisis."

MSNBC reports that "consumer protection advocates are warning Internet users that scam artists are trying to take advantage of Tuesday's terrorist attacks."

Spam solicitations have been sent out urging Netizens to donate money to the Red Cross or other relief organizations. But the e-mails direct potential donors to private Web sites apparently designed to steal credit card numbers."

The Secretary of State's Office has received one report of a suspicious telephone solicitation in Mississippi asking for money to help firefighters and police officers in New York City. Officials in Kentucky have also reported similar complaints.

"Such scam artists should stay out of our state," Clark said. I want to issue a clear warning that Mississippi won't allow it."

The Secretary of State's Office has talked with firefighters across the state on the charitable solicitation issue.

Jackson Fire Chief Raymond McNulty reports that the Jackson Fire Department does not do any telephone solicitations and that he refers potential donors to the Salvation Army.

Mississippi Firefighters Association President David Garcia of Waveland reports that the firefighters do not engage in any telephone solicitation.

Mississippi Fire Chiefs Association President Leroy Bledsoe of Horn Lake reports that to his knowledge no Mississippi fire departments are engaging in telephone solicitation at this time.

"When things like this happen people need to be cautious about folks asking for money," Bledsoe said. "There are people who try to profit from a disaster. Check with your local fire department to see if it is a legitimate request."

"It's not unusual for charity pitches to be made in the wake of disasters," said Robert W.G. Andrew, president and CEO of the Better Business Bureau in Seattle, Wash.

"Such tragedies often trigger an outpouring of public support and concern. Donors are advised, however, to fully evaluate requests from new, unfamiliar organizations, no matter how heart-felt the plea for contributions."

Secretary of State Clark and the Better Business Bureau offer the following tips for donors to consider before responding to disaster appeals:

- Examine your options instead of giving to the first charity from which you receive an appeal. There will be a variety of relief efforts responding to the diverse needs of disaster victims. Be wary of appeals that are long on emotion but short on what the charity will do to address the specific disaster.

- Do not give cash, always make contributions by check and make your check payable to the charity, not to the individual collecting the donation.

- Ask questions. Be wary of their reluctance or inability to answer questions. Ask for the charity's full name and address. Ask if the charity is registered with the Secretary of States Office. However, bear in mind that registration in and of itself does not imply that the state or local government endorses the charity.

- Don't be fooled by names that took impressive or that closely resemble the name of a well-known organization.

- Don't succumb to pressure to give money on the spot or allow a "runner" to pick up a contribution; the charity that needs your money today will welcome it just as much tomorrow. The problem caused by disasters do not disappear after the headlines do.

- Ask how much of your gift will be used for the disaster mentioned in the appeal, and how much would go towards administrative and fund raising costs.

- Check out the organization with the Secretary of State's Office or with your Better Business Bureau. Consumers who feel they have been victimized should call the Secretary of State's Office by calling 601-359-1633 or 888-236-6167.

The Mississippi Secretary of State's Office does not endorse any particular charity.

HOW TO HELP:

There are many worthwhile charities and organizations helping the victims of the tragedy. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) is urging those willing to volunteer or make donations to use the following numbers:

- To give blood: 1-800-448-3543 (American Red Cross)

- To make financial contributions: 1-800-HELP NOW (American Red Cross) and 1-800-SAL-ARMY (Salvation Army)

- To volunteer medical services: 1-800-801-8092

- To volunteer general services: 1-518-431-7600

The United Way of New York and the New York Community Trust have established a fund to help the victims of the attacks and their families. The September Eleventh Fund will provide immediate support to established emergency assistance agencies.

Anyone wishing to contribute may send their donations in care of United Way, 2 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10016, or call: 212-251-4035.

The City of New York is accepting contributions to aid the families of Police, Fire, EMS and other City employees involved in rescue efforts.

Checks or money orders may be sent to: NYCPPI - The City of New York, 100 Church Street, 20th Floor, New York, N. Y. 10007.

Bay looking for 'warrants' that were issued 1917-1938

Do you know any of these people? If you do, please contact Mike Cuevas, director of Cultural Affairs, Bay St. Louis, 228.463.7120.

The City of Bay St. Louis issued a warrant (check) to everyone on this list at some time from 1917-1938. We would like to return the checks to family members with a preservation interest in their family history.

The checks will be returned with proof of ownership on a first-come, first-served basis.

The city expects relatives to share with other family members when there are multiple warrants. Family members may be asked to share photographs for copying and brief family or person histories in exchange for the warrants.

"We hope that these checks will be the jumpstart of a city history museum," said Mayor Eddie Favre, who retrieved warrants issued to his late grandfather, A. G. Favre, who served as Hancock County's Chancery Clerk.

This is a partial list of warrants issued:

Security tightened on Gulf Coast and inland waterways

NEW ORLEANS - United States Coast Guard officials have heightened the level of security throughout the Gulf of Mexico and the inland waterways due to the terrorist attacks in New York and Washington D.C. Tuesday.

Units are also conducting special security and humanitarian missions stemming from Tuesday's horrific actions.

Louisiana - The Louisiana Offshore Oil Port (LOOP), located south of Morgan City, La. has reopened after temporarily suspending operations for 24 hours.

The Coast Guard Cutter Pelican, an 87-foot patrol boat from Abbeville, La., enforced a security zone for the facility throughout the night and was relieved by the CGC Dauntless, a 210-foot medium endurance cutter from Galveston, Texas, at 11:30 a.m.

A safety zone is also in effect for Morgan City's area of responsibility between Grand Isle and Freshwater City, La.

Alabama/ Mississippi - Coast Guard patrol boats are providing security for two U.S. Naval vessels while they undergo maintenance and repair in local shipyards.

A boat from Station Mobile, Ala., is providing security for the USS Gates, and a second patrol boat from Station Pascagoula, is providing security for the USS Cole. A safety zone is also in effect for the Port of Mobile and the surrounding region.

A rescue jet crew from Aviation Training Center Mobile, Ala., is transporting the Assistant Director of Emergency Services for New York, Andrew Feeney, from Santa Barbara, Calif., to Albany, New York.

Secretary of Transportation Norman A. Mineta authorized the Commandant of the Coast Guard to take actions necessary to control the anchorage and movement of any vessel in the navigable waters of the U.S. and in the territorial sea extending three nautical miles off shore to ensure the safety and security of the U.S. Maritime Transportation System.

The Coast Guard Captains of the port are working closely with local, state and federal officials, including the local port authorities, to implement measures to increase port safety and security.

"Maritime transportation is vital to our great country. The Coast Guard throughout the heartland of America will guarantee security to our ports and waterways to ensure the safety of the American people," said Captain Joel Whitehead, chief of staff for the Eighth Coast Guard District.

The Coast Guard is a humanitarian service and will maintain a 24-hour presence to respond to any maritime emergency that may arise.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

September 14, 1951 - Marion J. (Sonny) Wolfe Jr., will receive six trophies and the championship trophy as winner of the Lightening Fleet No. 211 series of races at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club this year.

Nine boat competed, and Wolfe, sailing his Rebel, won the championship. Members of the crew who will also receive a trophy are Louis Staehle, and Claude Kohler Jr. Wolfe will receive four first place trophies and two second place awards.

The Crusade for Freedom, which is the American people's challenge to world Communism, began in Hancock County last Thursday when A.H. Gregory, county chairman, released the "pillow balloon" containing leaflets identical to those dropped behind the Iron Curtain.

The drive will end September 30. Boxes are placed in business houses in the area this week, along with membership receipts and stickers to show that you have enrolled in the Crusade for Freedom. A goal of 1200 members has been set for Hancock County; and any amount, from five cents on, will make the donor a member and give him the opportunity, as an individual citizen, to stroke a blow for freedom to add his voice to the voices of truth piercing the Iron Curtain. It says to the Communists: "You tell your lies and we'll tell the truth, and the truth will win."

SIXTY YEARS AGO

September 5, 1941 - City will pay reward of $25 for arrest and conviction of parties moving traffic signs. The City of Bay St. Louis recently adopted a wise procedure, one calculated to regulate traffic in order to avoid confusion and possibly the saving of lives.

The reward will go to the party reporting the names of the party of parties removing traffic signs. That is transposing one another. Recently the city underwent a heavy expense for the purchase of permanent enameled signs, parking on one side of streets, regulating speed limits over certain areas, as well as danger signs in school and other zones.

Unknown parties have taken the liberty of moving these signs to places where they do not belong, thus causing confusion, violations of traffic, etc.

These doings have gone to such an extent as to cause annoyance and possible disaster. A halt to this practice is called and the offenders will be given severe punishment if apprehended and proven guilty.

"This is a fair warning," said Mayor Blaize, "and we propose to enforce traffic laws to the very letter. This is a dangerous practice and must be halted." The Echo hopes the stopping cars and sudden stops in the middle of the street, as is a common practice, will also be halted. We can call names.

Tough -- talking to our kids

In fact, you may communicate that the subject is taboo and that you are unavailable if you remain silent.

• Be available and "askable."

Let kids know that it is okay to talk about the unpleasant events. Listen to what they think and feel.

By listening, you can find out if they have misunderstandings, and you can learn more about the support that they need.

You do not need to explain more than they are ready to hear, but be willing to answer their questions.

• Share your feelings.

Tell young people if you feel afraid, angry, or frustrated. It can help them to know that others also are upset by the events. They might feel that only children are struggling.

If you tell them about your feelings, you also can tell them about how you deal with the feelings. Be careful not to overwhelm them or expect them to find answers for you.

• Help children use creative outlets like art and music to express their feelings.

Children may not be comfortable or skilled with words, especially in relation to difficult situations. Using art, puppets, music, or books might help children open up about their reactions.

They may want to draw pictures and then destroy them, or they could want to display them or send them to someone else. Be flexible and listen.

• Reassure young people and help them feel safe.

When tragic events occur, children may be afraid that the same will happen to them. Some young children may even think that it already did happen to them.

It is important to let them know that they are not at risk - if they are not. Try to be realistic as you reassure them, however.

You can try to support them and protect them, but you cannot keep all bad things from happening to children. You can always tell them that you love them, though.

You can say that no matter what happens, your love will be with them. That is realistic, and often that is all the children need to feel better.

• Support children's concern for people they do not know.

Children often are afraid not only for themselves, but also for people they do not even know. They learn that many people are getting hurt or are experiencing pain in some way.

They worry about those people and their well being. In some cases they might feel less secure or cared for themselves if they see that others are hurting.

It is heartwarming and satisfying to observe this level of caring in children. Explore ways to help others and ease the pain.

• Look for feelings beyond fear.

After reassuring kids, don't stop there. Studies have shown that children also may feel sad or angry. Let them express that full range of emotions.

Support the development of caring and empathy. Be careful not to encourage the kind of response given by one child: "I don't care if there's a war, as long as it doesn't affect me and my family."

• Help children and youth find a course of action.

One important way to reduce stress is to take action. This is true for both adults and children. The action may be very simple or more complex.

Children may want to write a letter to someone about their feelings, get involved in an organization committed to preventing events like the one they are dealing with, or send money to help victims or interventionists.

Let the young people help to identify the action choices. They may have wonderful ideas.

• Take action and get involved in something.

It is not enough to let children take action by themselves. Children who know that their parents, teachers, or other significant caregivers are working to make a difference feel hope.

They feel safer and more positive about the future. So do something. It will make you feel more hopeful, too. And hope is one of the most valuable gifts we can give children and ourselves.

Garden -- great fall

growth. For marigolds and other fall annuals, mix two pounds of a slow release 12-6-6 fertilizer per 100 square feet of bed space when creating the bed, and side dress every six to eight weeks. Mulching mums should be a no-brainer. If the plants dry severely, many buds will fail to open.

Mulch marigolds when the seedlings are large enough or after setting out transplants. Deadhead to keep a tidy appearance and to encourage more blooms.

One of the big advantages to fall-planted marigolds is the reduced threat of spider mites.

The reproductive rate of these joy-stealing sapsuckers diminishes as cooler weather arrives.

As with mums, we have good choices in marigolds like the large-flowered, compact varieties Antigua and Discovery that excel in the landscape, and the slightly larger Inca and Marvel. The smaller, multi-colored flowers of Safari and Bonanza are also well worth using.

Chrysanthemums and marigolds combine well with other fall bloomers like the Mexican bush sage (Salvia leucantha) and Indigo Spires salvia.

Another great fall and winter plant that is much underused is the calendula or pot marigold. These plants thrive in cooler weather and produce huge, flat, orange or yellow flowers. Mild temperatures like we've had the past two winters would most likely have found them blooming for months. Zinnias and celosias are also easy to grow from seeds or transplants and provide months of fall color.

Rejoice in the weather we have had thus far and do a little digging and planting this weekend. We could be in store for our best fall in many years.

ANAD, THE SON OF OMRI, SEVENTH KING OF ISRAEL (825-814 B.C.), WAS A MAN WHO, ALTHOUGH HE HAD GOOD INSTINCTS, BEHAVED WICKEDLY DUE TO THE EVIL INFLUENCES OF HIS WIFE JEZEBEL, A PHOENICIAN PRINCESS AND PRIESTESS OF THE HEATHEN GODDESS ASTARTE. JEZEBEL WANTED TO INSTALL THE WORSHIP OF ASTARTE THROUGHOUT ISRAEL WITH ANAD'S HELP AND ONLY THE PROPHET ELIJAH STOOD TO DEFEAT HER, PREDICTING ALSO THAT ANAD WOULD BE DESTROYED FOR TRYING TO HELP HER, NO MATTER WHAT PRECAUTIONS HE TOOK AND, ALTHOUGH ANAD WAS CAREFUL TO DISGUISE HIMSELF ON THE BATTLEFIELD SO AS NOT TO BE A CONSPICUOUS MARK FOR ENEMY ARCHERS, IN HIS LAST BATTLE WITH BENHADAD OF SYRIA, A RANDOM ARROW HIT BETWEEN THE JOINTS OF HIS ARMOR, KILLING HIM, THUS FULFILLING ELIJAH'S PREDICTION (KINGS 21:19).

AREA DEVOTIONAL &amp; DIRECTORY PAGES

The Rev. Paul Richards pauses in the Diamondhead Community College's Memorial Garden following a prayer service for victims of the terrorist attack on New York's World Trade Towers and the Pentagon.

Diamondhead Church to celebrate Rev. Richards' 50 years in the ministry

BY BILL ROBBINS

The Rev. Paul Richards is a man with a history that yields many a good story, some dealing with the days when, as an 80-pound runner on his high school track team - his nickname was Paul Small - and some with his college days when he was a 127-pound boxer.

But, though he still hasn't gained much in physical stature since becoming a minister a half-century ago, the Rev. Dr. Richards has loomed large to parishioners in Presbyterian churches from North Carolina to Louisiana and Mississippi.

And so, because they hold him in such high regard, his congregation next Sunday, Sept. 23, both in 8 and 10 a.m. church services and in a subsequent luncheon dinner at the Diamondhead Country Club, will help Richards celebrate the 50th anniversary of his ordination as a minister and that beginning of a life of service that has been as eventful as it has been devoted to his faith. And, the spirited minister said the other day, at the age of 76 he has no time set to begin tapering off.

"I'm still excited about what I do," he said. "As long as I think I'm doing a good job, as long as I stay healthy, as long as the people still want me, I'll be here."

For much of his career, Richards' path has included much more than time in the pulpit. Though even in high school he had found ministerial life appealing, Richards started college on a tangent that led to a degree in engineering before ascending to a PhD degree in theology.

The spirit that led to boxing as a college activity appears to have pursued him into the ministry. One of his first callings was to a backwoods church in North Carolina, where for a time he had to head a fight with the community's leading citizen just to keep his church doors open.

Years later, at a church in the New Orleans area, he led his parishioners in a stand against a faction that would have aligned it with the "massive resistance" movement against the desegregation of schools.

"We lost about 10 percent of our members and about half of our contributions, but we became a stronger church in the end," Richards said.

Until recently, while attending regularly to his Sunday services, he divided his weekdays between his ministerial duties and a second profession as a counselor both here and in New Orleans for troubled individuals with emotional, psychological and spiritual needs.

Recently, however, though he continues to find time for counseling, he and his elders decided that his growing church required the full-time services of both their pastor and his associate, Lisa Easterling. That growth has been rapid. Since Richards' arrival here 14 years ago, when about 90 members worshiped in a small sanctuary, the membership has nearly quadrupled. Average attendance has multiplied sixfold, a new sanctuary and an administration building have been added, and three new properties have been acquired.

"And that growth," a leading parishioner once said, "is a testimonial to the fact that his sermons are among the mountain-peak experiences of our lives."

United Way rallies local support for national crisis

United Way of South Mississippi (UWSM) is joining with businesses and other local United Ways nationwide to support a United Way National Response Fund for victims of Tuesday's terrorist attacks in New York and Washington, DC, and their families, according to UWSM Executive Director Rebecca Montgomery.

The announcement follows word that Cuba Wadlington, Jr., president and CEO of Williams Gas Pipeline and chair-elect of United Way of America's Board of Directors, has committed a gift of $1 million from Williams to start a United Way National Response Fund.

"Companies, local United Way organizations and individuals are being encouraged to join Williams in their generosity," Montgomery said. "Funds and in-kind donations will be directed to programs assisting the victims and their families."

"We don't want to minimize our local needs," Montgomery said, "but when a disaster strikes, we are called on to do more."

People wishing to help with the crisis response effort can send their contribution to United Way of South Mississippi at P. O. Box 2128, Gulfport, MS 39505-2128.

Such checks should be clearly marked for the UW National Response Fund, and they will be forwarded to the fund's national office.

Contributions also may be mailed to: UW National Response, United Way of America, 701 North Fairfax Street, Alexandria, VA 22314.

The UWA Crisis Response Team may be phoned at (800) UWA-2757 x 448, or contacted by e-mail at UWresponse@unitedway.org.

A Reason for Being: Seek the Lord

Why did God create you and me? What is the purpose for our existence? We long to know. The Bible outlines one of our basic reasons for being. "He [God] made from one every nation of mankind to live on all the face of the earth, having determined their appointed times and the boundaries of their habitation, that they would seek God."

All the people of the world stem from Adam, the very first human being. God made him. God brought each of us into the world as his children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, etc.

God brought each of us into the world at specific times and he takes each of us off the stage of life at our appointed time. "In Your book were all written the days that were ordained for me" (Psalm 139:16).

God put us in the world in the particular country, state, and city in which we live. He put us here for a reason. We are to seek Him. That is, we are to look to Him, pray to Him, worship Him, and seek counsel and comfort from Him.

God may be found among His people. Seek Him there in worship. God is nearby, in His Word. Seek Him by reading the Bible. "Seek the Lord while He may be found; call upon Him while He is near" (Isaiah 55:6).
